Week-End Collisions Send Two to Hospital, Two Slightly Injured

Coshocton Auto Collides with Another at Tuscarawas and Two Women Tourists May Die as Result—Mrs. Guy Norman and Daughter Suffer Slight Injuries in Crash Near Miller School House

Mrs. M. D. Stephenson, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Mrs. E. R. Stephenson, of Kenmore, O., daughter-in-law of the former, were confined to the Twin City hospital, Dennison, Monday, badly injured as a result of an automobile collision of the Stephenson Star touring car and a Nash sedan driven by J. R. Stofer, Coshocton Route 6, near Tuscarawas, this morning at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. M. D. Stephenson is suffering from a scalp wound in the back of her head and is cut and bruised and has possibly two ribs broken. The daughter-in-law has a bad contusion of the head, which may cause concussion of the brain, is the word from Dennison. Their condition is regarded as serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Stofer and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Goodwin, also of Coshocton Route 6 were in the Nash car.

The accident happened at a right angle intersection near Tuscarawas. It was said that the Star car was struck in the middle by the Nash.

E. R. Stephenson was driving the Star. He and his five year old son, Russell escaped injury. None was hurt in the Nash car, it was learned.

The Stephensons were enroute from Kenmore to Parkersburg and the occupants in the Nash were on a trip to Niagara Falls and other eastern points. Mr. Stephenson was taking the Mrs. Stephenson to her home in Parkersburg.

The Nash car, it was understood, was on a grade road and about to reach the pike and the Star was on the pike when they came together at the intersection.

The Star car was almost demolished, while the Nash car did not receive damage of any consequence. The Star car toppled over when it was struck, it was learned.

Mrs. Guy Norman and her two-year-old child received minor cuts and bruises and were obliged to receive medical attention as a result of an automobile accident on the West Lafayette pike, near Miller's schoolhouse, Sunday evening at 9:30 o'clock.

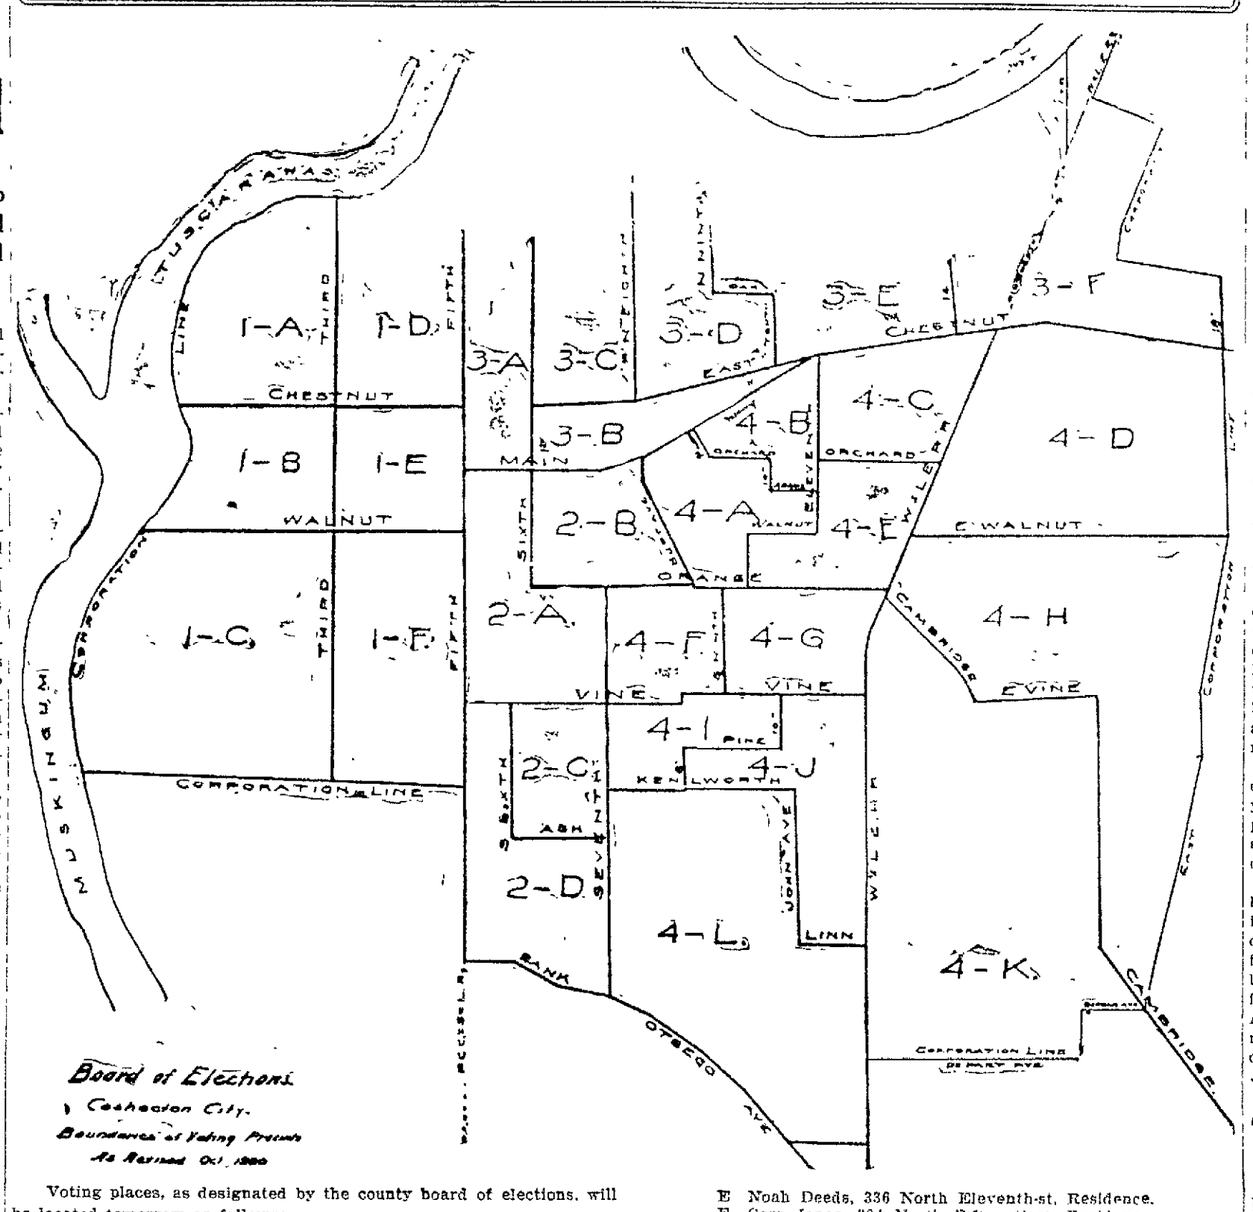

A big car driven by a negro, said to be from Newcomerstown, crashed into the Chevrolet in which were riding Mr. and Mrs. Norman and their child.

The accident happened on the hill just west of the schoolhouse.

It was said that the car in which rode the colored people went out around a car on the hill driven by Rev. D. L. Custis, West Lafayette and then switched over in front of the Custis car and struck the Chevrolet which

Sprinkling Ban Still in Effect; Shortage Is Serious, Ashman Says

Problem to Be Discussed at Council Tonight—Slight Gain in Water Level Expected to Be Lost thru Use of Water Works—Not More than One-Third of Owners Pay Assessment, Safety Director Believes

With the small pump working part time, the condition of the city's water supply remained serious Monday, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Ashman.

The water in the reservoir still remains at a low level, in spite of the fact that a little was gained over Sunday, but a heavy drain in expected Monday and Tuesday from the use of water motors.

Water in the city wells is scarce, and it is impossible to use the large pump at all, according to Ashman. It is believed that a heavy layer of sand in the bottom of the wells is causing the trouble.

Ashman, and Owen Popham, chief engineer at the water works, will appear before the city council Monday evening, in an effort to have something done to relieve the situation. Plans will probably be made to sand the wells, or do anything else that will provide more water.

The wells have never been sanded since they were sunk 10 or 12 years ago, Ashman says. He expressed the opinion that they should be cleaned out at least every two years.

Altho sprinkling has been prohibited, and is still banned, nothing has been done to stop the use of water motors. The motors use far more water than the sprinkling, according to Ashman. This fact is established, according to Ashman, during the winter when no sprinkling is done. Even then, over Monday and Tuesday, more water is used that is supplied by the pumps during the same time.

A fee of $1 a year is charged for the privilege of using a water motor, while a fee of $3 is charged for the sprinkling privilege. It is estimated that the water motors during a year will use many times as much water as is used for sprinkling during the summer months.

Ashman declares that he is of the opinion that not more than one-third of the owners of water motors are paying for the privilege of using them. He suggests that hardware dealers be required to notify the city of the sale of every motor, in the same manner that plumbers are required to give notice of any water-using appliances that they install. In that way, the number in use could be checked up, and the proper assessments made.

THREE FREED FROM JAIL; WILL FACE GRAND JURY

Clark Released on Own Recognizance and Earle and Quinlan Furnish Bond

Emerson "Cutie" Clark, Thomas Quinlan, and J. R. Earle have all been released from the county jail after giving bond for their appearance before the grand jury which convenes in September.

Clark is held on a charge of forging a check for $50. He was released on his own recognizance. Quinlan faces a charge of stealing Dr. W. H. Keenan's automobile. He was released under bond of $200 signed by his father.

Earle, of West Lafayette, who is charged with embezzling $441.22 of money belonging to the Ku Klux Klan, was released under a $200 cash bond.

Clark has been in jail for several months, Quinlan for just one week, and Earle for about a month.

Fred Underwood Dies Sunday at Local Hospital

Death due to an intestinal obstruction claimed Fred Underwood, aged 39, West Bedford, at the City hospital at 2 o'clock, Sunday afternoon.

He was operated upon at the hospital two weeks ago for appendicitis. Intestinal obstruction developed later, causing his death.

Mr. Underwood was born in Perry-tp and reared in West Bedford.

He had been employed with his father, Eli Underwood, in the timber business.

Fred was affiliated with the Mohawk M. E. church. He was married a few years ago to Georgia Davis.

The widow, one son, Fred, jr., his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Underwood, near New Bedford and the following brothers and sisters survive: Frank, of Newcomerstown; H. B. Underwood, of Cooperdale; Clarence F. Underwood, near West Bedford; Mrs. Burt Sharples, of West Bedford; Mrs. Dwight Walker, of West Bedford; Mrs. William Crawford, of Cooperdale and Mrs. R. M. Bentz, of Canton.

Mrs. A. D. Freese, of Indiana, a sister, preceded him to the grave three years ago.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the West Bedford M. E. church in charge of the Rev. Johnson, of Alliance. Interment will be made in Valley View cemetery at Warsaw.

POLLS TO BE OPEN AT 6:30

Six of Eight Candidates for Governor Issue Optimistic Statements on Chances

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11. — With polls opening at 6:30 eastern time tomorrow, and the largest field of candidates ever to offer themselves for the various places on the state ticket, candidates and their managers for the principal positions today expressed themselves as supremely confident of the outcome.

For the Republican nomination for Governor, in which eight candidates are entered, six of them issued optimistic statements, asserting that if the supporters of their cause turned out throughout the state victory was as good as won.

Harry L. Davis, James A. White, John F. Burke, C. Homer Durand, Joseph B. Sieber and George B. Harris, all apparently were confident of victory. Congressman John L. Cable, of Lima, whose campaign activities were sadly hampered by an accident that kept him a hospital patient during a large part of the campaign, and Harry Clay Smith, negro editor of Cleveland, alone were silent in last minute pronouncements here.

Returns Will Be Received at Co. Elections Board

Election returns this year will be received at the office of the county board of elections

The long grind of tabulating the votes will begin Tuesday evening and continue thru most of Wednesday, or until the vote is completed.

WEEKS MAY SELL LINE TO STINSON

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—Application was filed here today with the state utilities commission by E. L. Weeks, of Coshocton, for authorization to sell to A. C. Stinson, Coshocton, the bus line between Coshocton and Coshocton Lake Park. The purchase was set at $7,000.

A letter has been sent the mayor of Coshocton by the commission, giving the details of the proposed purchase, and asking for opinion of the city.

NEGROES ARE IN SMASH-UP

Driver and Companions Are Jailed When Auto Hits Pole; All Were Drunk

Harry Evans, negro, was given the extreme penalty for intoxication, when he faced Mayor Harry B. Heaton on that charge Monday morning. His fine was fixed at $100, and costs.

Evans was arrested with three other negroes, in a Ford sedan Sunday evening about seven o'clock, after the car had struck a telephone and another automobile on Chestnut-st, near Third-st.

The others were Chris Patterson, E. King and George Washington. Patterson was fined $25 and costs on a charge of intoxication. He paid his fine and was released.

King, driver of the car, was fined $100 and costs for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and $25 and costs for intoxication. His license was also revoked for the remainder of the year.

George Washington was fined $25 and costs, and he made arrangements to pay his fine. King is also expected to pay his fine, but it is doubted if Evans will.

Mayor Heaton explained that he had given Evans the limit, because of his conduct after being arrested. After he had been put in the prison, he climbed to the window, and yelled all manner of insulting and obscene words thru the window. Because of the construction of the city hall, the police in the front of the building were unaware of his actions until complaints were brot in from the outside. The whole neighborhood and many passing people were shocked by the man's words before he was quieted, police said.

Week-End Idleness Brings Work for Police; Six Arrests Sunday

The old quotation "For Satan finds some mischief still, for idle hands to do," is well borne out by police court records, according to Mayor Harry B. Heaton.

Every Monday morning, following the week end period of idleness, brings more business for police court than any other day of the week, according to the mayor.

For illustration, Mayor Heaton called attention to the business done over the week end just past. Six arrests were made, and all day Sunday police were busy answering calls to settle domestic rows of one kind or another. In the majority of these cases, no arrests were made.

"Everything's peaceful until Saturday afternoon and Sunday," Mayor Heaton said, "and then trouble begins to break. The men get home from work, and with nothing to do, quarrels break out at home or they get out with some liquor, and cause trouble that way. If they could be kept busy at home, fewer arrests would result."

Gas Is Down to 18 Cents

Gasoline was retailing at 18 cents per gallon at the service stations and at 16 cents per gallon from tank wagons at all Standard Oil stations in this city, Monday. The cut was effective Sunday.

These prices now prevail over the state of Ohio, it was learned from a local dealer, Monday afternoon.

IS RECOVERING

Joseph Callahan, of Mulberry-st was slowly recovering Monday from the effects of undergoing a major operation at his home last Friday. The operation was performed by Dr. W. H. Keenan, Dr. F. M. Marshall and Dr. A. P. Magness.

DAVIS TRIBE LEADS AS OFFICE SEEKERS

As office seekers, the Davis tribe leads them all this year. There is the Democratic nominee for president. On the ballots at tomorrow's primary election appear the following:

Harry L. Davis, candidate for governor; Roland G. Davis, for lieutenant governor, Laureas M. Davis, for county recorder, and Steve H. Davis, for county commissioner.

"Switching" of Votes Prevented by State Law

A local attorney today called attention to a section of the Ohio statutes which, it is believed, is not generally known by the voters. It reads—

"Sec. 13335. Whoever votes or attempts to vote at the primary election of a political party other than the political with which he has been affiliated as defined by law, shall be fined not less than $50, nor more than $500 or imprisoned in jail not less than three months nor more than six months, or both."

GLOVE CO. IS EXPANDING

Buys New Building at Uhrichsville with Three Times Present Floor Space

Thru the purchase of a new building, the Coshocton Glove Co., has paved the way to greatly enlarging their Uhrichsville plant, it became known Monday when local officials announced that the company is now the owner of the building formerly occupied by the Uhrichsville Knitting Co.

The glove company has operated a branch factory in Uhrichsville since 1916. They plan to abandon the old factory building, and move into their new location within the near future.

The building which they now own, is practically new and is modern in every way, it is reported. It is much larger than the building used by the company at the present time, and will give the company about three times the floor space which they now have.

Violator Pays $132 Total Fine

W. M. Sawyel paid fines and costs totalling $132 into mayor's court Monday on charges of liquor law violations. He was arrested Saturday night on Main-st, and a quart of liquor was found in his car, police reported.

When he pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication and possessing intoxicating liquor, Mayor H. B. Heaton assessed him $25 and costs on the first charge and $100 and costs on the second.

To Republican Voters

"Public morals can never be safe when at the behest of politicians rabists are pardoned as was done in the notorious csae in Cincinnati which aroused the state to a high pitch of resentment. Yes, as a circular says, "History has been Made." But a little more history of this kind and we will not have any Republican party. Why are all the other candidates silent on these and similar facts in this campaign? Iwill tell you. Because they know that unless jobs are created, contract raising and crime pardoning are a part of the vicious spoils system of party politics, and they stand for the system. Behold the spectacle. Because the Republican chairman of the central committee of the state desires to force the best citizens if necessary to stand for the worst candidate if nominated, a letter was sent out to the candidates and nearly all of them promptly respond in such a manner as to leave open no other construction than that the principles for which one of them pretended to stand for, for years would be thrown to the wind and he would support any man regardless of what he stands for, if the man claimed to wear the cloak of the Republican party. This is a prostitution of the party to ignoble ends. Mr. Rooseveit said, (andn I'd rather take his opinion upon this than some others I might mention,) "the man who offers allegiance to party as an excuse for blindly following his party commits a crime against the Country." ....

"One of the curses of extreme machine piltics is that of forcing men, who otherwise might be good public men to stand for the crooked and corrupt men in public life so that they can make up what this bunch of pirates call party solidarity, which means that the best in the group must stand for the standards of the worst in the group. Such kind of politics pollutes all it touches and I'm against it now and forever. And I want to say that not one of the other candidates except myself has raised his voice against this condition. You may want to know what I have replied to Major Montgomery, chairman of the Ohio Republican Central Committee, in his request concerning my attitude on candidates. I wrote him as follows:—"I find your letter awaiting me on return to my office. I am surprised at your question, as to whether I would support and work for the nominee for Governor on Republican ticket regardless of who might be nominated. May I say, as a Republican I have always reserved the right to vote against any man on my ticket who by his official record or public statements stands for, protects, or in any sense is a party to crookedness, rascality or thievery, or any man who would undermine the constitution or our law. I would not surrender this right to become governor of Ohio. If you think any candidate comes within this description you may name him to me and I will be more specific as to whether I will support him or not. May I say that I have never been asked these questions that seem to have troubled you and if it would relieve you at all, might I suggest to refer any questioners to me directly and I will be glad to answer them. Yours truly,

J. F. BURKE

"FOR GOVERNOR ON REPUBLICAN TICKET"

TO THE VOTERS:

I have decided to again become a candidate for the office of County Commissioner, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary on Augus' 12th. As you will recall, I served a short term on the board completing my tenure of office a year ago.

For the past several weeks I have been urged by various taxpayers to again make the race for commissioner. Their reasons as they have given them to me are, they are kind enough to say that during my first term of office I at all times used good judgment in the transaction of my various duties and also that I conscientiously had in mind the best interests of all the taxpayers and at no time could I be moved from a course which I considered right and proper. In addition they have pointed out to me that the experience I gained in handling the county's business would be a valuable asset during another term.

Therefore I am putting the matter up to the voters and taxpayers of Coshocton County and assure you that if again honored by election, shall at all times endeavor to again do my duty to the best of my ability.

Gathered by I. N. S.

TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT

Raymond, the young son in a prominent Elyria family, returned from Sunday school in a great state of excitement.

"Oh, mother," he exclaimed, "the superintendent said something nice about me in Sunday school today."

"What did he say?" the lad was asked.

"He said: 'We thank Thee for food and Raymond,'" the youth replied

ELYRIA—James Hewitt, service director, and A. C Hudnutt, gave addresses of welcome to the Michigan Grange auto caravan, consisting of several hundred machines, that stopped here on their annual tour through several states

DEFIANCE—It was probably a guilty conscience that caused Charles Balbaugh, 45, three miles from here, to be fined $300 and costs on the charge of possession and manufacturing liquor. Raiding officers, after having searched his farm, started to leave without finding a trace of liquor. Balbaugh called them back, and produced a quart of liquor, saying that it was all he had A further search of the premises however disclosed a 15 gallon still and other materials in a gully on the farm. He then plead guilty to the charges.

ATHENS—"Little" things do not worry Richard Eicholtz, a summer student at Ohio university here. Several days ago, it has been learned, while playing a tennis match on the university courts, an officer appeared with a divorce summons for Eicholtz, whose wife lives in Putnam county He merely smiled, continued to play, beating his opponent in the semi-finals of a tournament

POMEROY—Thomas Spears, a minister of a church near Rutland, O, had been arrested and jailed here on the charge of keeping children up at late hours because of the late services held. Following this, a state inspector ordered the structure closed, saying that it was unsafe for public gatherings

GLOUSTER — Jail records for Athens county were broken during the month of July with a total of 108 prisoners admitted, according to a report issued today by Sheriff P McKinley. McKinley said that the figures showed that there was a prisoner admitted to the institution every six hours and 51 minutes, and that three out of every four were lodged in the jail on liquor charges.

DELAWARE — Official football practice at Ohio Wesleyan will begin on Monday, September 15, according to an announcement made here today by Coach George Gauthier A notice to this effect has been sent to each member of the varsity squad selected during spring practice With only 12 days intervening between the practice and the opening game with Capital, the coach outlined a five weeks program of pre-season training, which he urged each candidate to undertake at their homes. All of the letter men from last year's squad, with the exception of Pickering, a guard, will return to school Candidates for the team are expected to arrive here a week before practice begins

AMHERST—Ralph H Logan, 31, who had been recently promoted as an engineer, is dead here as a result of a head on collision between two trains at the National Tube Co., Lorain. Logan was crushed when he attempted to jump clear of his engine.

MIDDLEPORT—The city solicitor of this place admits that he is stumped and says that the courts alone can decide on an issue that came up recently. It comes about this way. Some time ago, a referendum petition was circulated, protesting against the granting of a franchise to the local electric company with respect to the rates. A second petition was started against the first. Everything went smoothly for a brief spell, until now, a third petition has been circulated against the second, with the result, that no one here can figure the issue out. "The courts must decide," says the solicitor.

ATHENS—Candidates for county offices of Athens county addressed a meeting of women voters here recently following the invitation extended by the latter to tell of their qualifications for office. Each of the candidates advocated enforcement of the dry laws and said that they were in favor of women suffrage.

ELYRIA — Edward Flood and Thomas Lafferty were each fined $50 and costs by Justice S J George on the charge of driving while intoxicated. Clarence Lafferty, who was with them, was fined $10 on the charge of intoxication.

BELLAIRE—Dr H. Foster Bain, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, will attend Ohio's first state-wide first aid field meet to be held here Aug 16 Dr. Bain will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held in the evening Twenty mine rescue teams are entered in a contest that is to feature the afternoon's program.

Copeland Makes Senators Laugh

Author of Health Book Pokes Fun at Inconsistencies

The topic of immigration brings up many difficult questions, not the least of which is the disposition, under the quota law, of "scrambled families" Recently a Senate discussion of a mooted point was enlivened by the contribution of Dr Royal S Copeland, senator from New York, who finds time to keep a strict eye on his senatorial duties even tho he has just made his debut as a full-fledged author with The Health Book Dr Copeland, both in writing and speaking, always has a great fondness for a touch of humor.

On this occasion, he told how a Russian colonel and his wife, headed for America, has paused in Constantinople at the urging of the American Y. M C. A to act as translater among Russian refugees

"In the meantime," he added "a baby had been born. When the family reached Ellis Island the authorities said the father and mother, being Russian, could come in. But the baby, born in Constantinople, was a Turk and could not come in.

"This," the senator continued, "was on the theory, I suppose, that if kittens are born in an oven they are not kittens but are biscuits"

THE M'BRIDE-BITTINGER FIGHT FOR CONGRESS GROWS BITTER

By FRANK B. KENT.

The above well known political writer observing conditions in the Seventeenth District writes as follows:

The last forty-eight hours of the Congressional campaign has seen the contest filled with much personal bitterness between these two contestants for this nomination. They have staged a McAdoo-Smith fight for the elimination of each other with such disastrous results that should either be nominated the friends of the other would not support the nominee.

It seems that the McBride-for-Congress Endorsement as published over the District in Friday's issue of all of the leading papers provoked the ire of the Bittinger forces.

The Daily Banner of Knox County, early in the campaign, was scooped by Bittinger with the promise of Secretaryship to its Editor Robert Armstrong according to his own statement while many thought and conjectured that it was the Mt. Vernon P. O. that was the purchase price. This paper through which Bittinger flooded the District with his editorials came out Friday in scathing terms that McBride had overlooked the women in his endorsement and that "perhaps his past history in the gay life of Mansfield had better be kept in the background of the women voters." The Bittinger Editorial further replies "that McBride is the only man who can beat Morgan is a lie." McBride is chided about his age of 66 while Bittinger replies with his as 38.

In the Mt. Vernon Republican of Saturday, the McBride people reply with a one-half page advertisement, the opening statement of which is "The climax of a long and abusive campaign carried on by Bittinger was reached in a slimy, vituperative editorial in the Banner on Friday." They further say that "McBride's splendid health and strength give the lie to the Banner's insinuations as to his being dissipated," and submit the endorsement of Mr. McBride's minister.

While this newspaper fight was going on there appears a Klan and Anti-Klan fight. The Muncie Democrat, an anti-Klan paper, charges Bittinger with being a Klansman and urges all to vote for McBride. Thousands of copies of this paper have been distributed over the district with the hope and tendency to line up the voters in two camps, Klan and Anti-Klan. It does not require much comment or foresight to see that a nomination procured at the hands of either of these factions in the Democratic party would be an empty honor for the nominee.

With this fight going on, the prospects of Mr. Morgan, the Republican nominee seem brighter. A well known Morgan supporter said today. "Let them fight. The nearer they whip each other the less Morgan will have to do." With the increasing bitterness of the McBride-Bittinger fight and the sharp division of the electorate in two camps, it is doubtful if either were nominated he would receive the support of the other. It is certain, at least, that neither could hope to receive the full voting strength of the Democratic party. The Democratic leaders of the Seventeenth District are discouraged at what they thought an easy chance to restore the District to the Democratic columns.

Friends close to each of these fighting contestants, McBride and Bittinger, admit that it would be an injustice to either of them as well as an enormous party sacrifice to nominate one of them faced with the certainty of defeat. Consequently the two other candidates who have gone through the contest without getting "mussed up" are being turned to as Democracy's best bet—Dr. W. L. Evans of Hanover, Licking County, a practicing physician of long years and a good clean candiate in every way. And Burch B. Ferenbaugh, a prominent attorney of Knox County, whose candidacy suffered a blow by Bittinger's scoop of his local newspaper but who not withstanding this loss will carry his county and receive a niece vote throughout the District. It is quite characteristic of the Democratic party to stage a terrific fight and in the end nominate the right man and it is quite likely that after Tuesday's Primary one of these names will stand as the formidable contestant with Mr. Morgan for Congress.—(Political Adv.)

FINANCIAL LETTER

WALL STREET, New York, Aug. 11—The outstanding event of the week was, of course, the success of the Allied representatives in London in reaching an agreement among themselves with regard to ways and means of putting the Dawes plan into effect. This had been confidently expected in financial circles here despite sundry difficulties which from time to time rose to impede rapid progress, but the fact that the agreement at length has become a fait accompli has served to stimulate a wave of renewed enthusiasm and optimism in this country. The position assumed more recently by the Germans who have arrived in London and been presented with the conclusions of the Allied representatives shows that they are determined to drive as close a bargain as they can. But that, of course, is to be expected, in the nature of the case, and dispatches from London indicate that a final settlement between the Allied and German Governments is taken in that center as almost a foregone conclusion. The exact terms of that accommodation cannot be foreseen with exactitude, of course, but the financial community here feels little doubt that they will be mutually satisfactory and will, as soon as given practical effect, work a very marked improvement in the European situation. Such an eventuality would, it need hardly be said, have a very distinct and a very helpful bearing upon the state of business in this country.

Helpful Effects of European Settlement

Economic recovery of Europe would not fail, in the first place, to stimulate demand for a number of our exportable products. Consideration of this fact has already shown itself in the market for copper stocks, and indirectly in other lines. It is in the rural districts and in industries which most directly serve the farmer that the influence of this factor would be most pronounced. Crop shortages and threatened crop shortages have already sent the prices of sundry agricultural products to levels not even hoped for a few weeks ago. Increased European demand for our wheat, pork products, cotton and other agricultural raw materials and foodstuffs could not but help to sustain those values and perhaps to work them to still better levels, with the result that not only our farmers would prosper proportionately but branches of business like the fertilizer manufacturers, agricultural makers, mail order houses and others which depend upon the farmer for their markets would feel the stimulation of greater buying power on the part of the farmer. Of course, improvement would not be confined to these enterprises. A better adjustment of agricultural prices to other prices would, in fact, be of benefit to the whole community, and then, too, in some cases at least, Europe once more restored to normal conditions would have need of our manufactured products as well as our raw materials and foodstuffs.

Probable Foreign Loans

But in another direction also settlement of European difficulties would affect the situation in the United States. Admittedly the Dawes plan can be made operative only by the extension of loans to Germany by investors in this country. Such advances would not be likely to end with the preliminary grants provided in the Dawes plan itself, but more than apt to assume considerably larger proportions in the relatively near future. If there is to be a large volume of foreign financing in this market, powerful banking interests here cannot afford to permit prices of securities to decline materially or permanently at this time. From a purely market standpoint it is therefore highly probable that pools and syndicates of one sort and another will continue to support the market more effectually than would be the case were there no foreign financing in the offing.

Improved Domestic Outlook

Meantime the domestic situation is steadily, if slowly taking on a better appearance. Prices are firming up in many cases. Demand for some key steel products, particularly in the West, is reported to be distinctly stronger within the recent past. The textile industry, which has for so long been in the doldrums, is experiencing a quickening of demand for its products. Much the same is true of the automobile trade, and the agricultural outlook is distinctly better than it has been for a god while past. On the political side it becomes clearer and clear er as time passes that the Coolidge and Dawes ticket will win rather easily this fall. The fact in itself is creating a strong and abiding atmosphere of optimism in business circles that it would not be easy to overcome.

State Will Try to Show Youths Perfectly Sane

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—The battle of the alienists in the Leopold-Loeb trial -a battle that has exceeded even that sanguinary conflict of medical testimony in the Thaw trial- is becoming more and more complicated as the time approaches when Judge John R Caverly is to decide whether "Babe" and "Dicky" are to hang or merely go to prison for life for the murder of 11-year-old Bobby Franks.

The lawyers who are trying to save the necks of the blithe young collegians have put on the witness stand four pyschiatrists of national renown to swear the boys are mentally diseased, pathologically unsound and queer since childhood.

The state's lawyers who are trying to send the youths to the gallows will confound the testimony of the four defense alienists with the conclusions of four other alienists, scarce less known than the defense quartette. Perhaps later today, but more probably tomorrow, the state will begin putting into the record the conclusions of its doctors that both Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, while depraved young men, are sane and sound, under the law, and as such are eligible candidates for the noose.

Then the defense will bring up its reserve strength of scientific testimony to confound the testimony of the state's experts.

The defense considers that it has an "ace" in the hole in this counter offensive. It consists of a text book on mental disorders, "Insanity and the law," written by Dr. William O. Krohn and Dr. Harold D. Singer, two of the state alienists, in which, the defense contends, Doctors Krohn and Singer described as mentally inferior just such persons as Nathan Leopold and "Dicky" Loeb. The defense lawyers are planning to quote their own words of Dr. Krohn and Dr. Singer to them on the stand if they testify that the boys are sane and responsible.

A new scientific phrase was tossed into the battle of words and terms today. It is "psychopathic inferiors." That is what Dr. James Whitney Hall, another of the defense alienists, termed the young slayers. Dr. Hall's findings, resembling in the main those of the other defense alienists, differs somewhat as to phraseology.

"My findings are," he reported, "that the boys, Leopold and Loeb, are psychopathic inferiors, they have emotional defects and, defective judgment is only relatively responsible for their acts.

"Psychopathic inferiority is a condition referred to by various writers as moral insanity, impulsive insanity, moral imbecility, moral deficiency, etc."

Both Leopold and Loeb, Dr. Hall found, "unfit for any part in society, as both are entirely anti-social and unsocial in all their conclusions.

"They would not be satisfied in heaven and they probably would wreck hell. They are ships with sails but no anchors."

That is the way Dr Hall summarizes his description of the boys as infants terrible.

"Loeb is an infantile adult," Dr. Hall said. "He has highly emotional reactions, no philosophy, and simply commits crime because he wants to. He is so highly antisocial that he is a dangerous man.

"Leopold on the contrary, has a definite philosophy, based entirely upon and ego-centric center."

Leopold said, for instance, Dr. Hall reported, that entirely too much fuss had been made about the killing of Bobby Franks.

"The killing of Franks made no difference in the community, he was only one of thiree million people." Nathan told the alienist "Society in Chicago," he said, "functioned just as well the day after the crime as it did the day before.

DAVIS TAKES COMMAND OF DEM. PARTY

By WILLIAM K HUTCHINSON

CLARKSBURG, W Va Aug 11 —Assuming direct command of the Democratic ship of state, John W Davis today formally launched his drive for the white house.

The Democratic nominee took up the party leadership by calling the national committee into session for battle instructions, the election campaigns and to hear a stirring appeal for party unity. The candidate not only invoked the meeting but announced he would personally address it. This action came as a prelude to the formal notification ceremony which takes place tonight. The committee on notification, headed by Sen Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, will inform Davis officially that the New York convention chose him to carry the party standard in the coming campaign. As tho unaware of the honor, Davis will thank the committee and then formally accept.

In his speech of acceptance, the nominee will lay down his own interpretation of the Democratic platform adopted at New York, stress the issues upon which he will wage his campaign and throw down a number of challenges to his political opponents. Preparation of the speech was concluded several days ago and party leaders were enthusiastic over its effect upon the voting public. Davis already has announced he would stress three great issues in the campaign, and he would devote part of his acceptance speech to each. These are honesty in government, federal economy and religious freedom.

Since coming back to his old home town" Davis has been busy conferring with party leaders. To each and everyone, he has appealed for party unity. His visitors have come away enthusiastic, pledging a solid front in November.

Democratic leaders poured into Clarksburg during the day, both for the meeting of the national committee and the notification ceremony. The committee was scheduled to formally elect Clem Shaver, Davis' boyhood friend and the first "Davis-for-president" booster, as the new national chairman.

FLYERS FACE LONG DELAY IN ICELAND

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

ABOARD U S CRUISER RICHMOND, Off Reykjavik, Aug. 11, by Radio to I. N. S.—The United States cruiser Raleigh, which is off Angmagsalik, Greenland, today began investigating ice conditions and will steam southward in a day or two to look for a landing place at Cape Farrell, Mass, if it is deemed possible to negotiate the ice floes farther north.

Lieut Lowell Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson, the two remaining world pilots of the original four that started from Los Angeles nearly five months ago, were waiting developments as patiently as they could under the circumstances. The flyers were disappointed to learn from the Raleigh thatt the coal supply of the Danish steamer Rask has begun to run low.

The Gertrude Rask, which has been trying to break thru the ice at Angmagsalik to establish a supply base for the Americans needs 150 tons of fuel. She cannot be supplied by the Raleigh which is an oil burner.

Caught in a heavy ice floe, the Gertrude Rask has been carried 75 miles from Angmagsalik in a southerly direction, but expects to be in the open sea again tomorrow.

The Raleigh did not encounter any ice off Angmagsalik until she was about 80 miles from the port. She reported, however, that the weather grew very cold at Angmagsalik was approached. Unless the Gertrude Rask can be refuelled, it is likely it will be impossible to break thru the ice as it is improbable that another ice breaker can be sent to the scene before fresh ice gathers.

Press Comments Upon Candidacy of Frederickson

The following clipping from a Mansfield newspaper shows the high esteem in which C R Frederickson is held thruout the Seventeenth district.

POLITICS BENEFITS

The fact that Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton, Ohio, is a candidate for member of the republican state central committee from this, the 17th congressional district, is refreshing. Mr Frederickson is one of Ohio's most outstanding businessmen. He is a success in private life and now shows good citizenship by taking an active part in political affairs. The district is to be congratulated and Mr. Frederickson is to be commended. It is well to state that he will be elected as he has no opposition.

The News has repeatedly commented upon the lack of interest that businessmen take in politics. It has been frequently urged here that men of business affairs become also men of political affairs to that extent, at least, of voting and supporting men qualified to hold the offices to which they aspire.

Tuesday will be primary day in Ohio. It should also be good citizenship day—voting day for every business man and every business woman as well as every other qualified citizen. The call of the polls is as essential now as the call of the government in times of national danger. Mr. Frederickson has set the example by giving time from his business affairs to do something for political affairs. We can at least meet him part of the way by taking sufficient interest to cast a ballot next Tuesday.

The Radio Column

Timely Tips and Suggestions on the Latest Diagrams and Hookups — Simplified —

DETAILS GIVEN FOR LOW LOSS RECEIVER

Several points in the drawing of the tuned radio frequency receiver with low losses may be somewhat puzzling and they will be taken up in this article and explained in detail. The 100 ohm resistor as shown between negative B binding post and the positive A binding post may be somewhat unusual.

The 100 ohm resistance is for the purpose of limiting the B battery current in case of accidental shorts in the wiring that might prove disastrous to the tubes. If a B battery short is made the current that will be allowed to flow thru the resistance and thence thru the filaments of the tubes will be below that necessary to burn out the filaments.

If you are unable to secure this piece of apparatus then an ordinary 25 or 40 watt electric light bulb may be used in its place. It will serve the same purpose tho requiring considerably more room if incorporated in the set itself.

The dotted lines as shown between the Loop and the Ground posts is to represent a connection thatt should be made if aerial and ground are to be used. In case you wish to use a loop aerial then this connection should be taken off and the two terminals of the loop attached to the two terminals, the aerial binding post not being used.

Three connections only are shown on the jack. Use any two circuit jack having four terminals on the back. The top two terminals and the bottom terminal are to be used, the third terminal may be cut off as it is not used in the circuit. The second telephone jack is of the ordinary single circuit variety and will need no changes before being used in the circuit.

REGULARS CONTINUE TO RIDE TOBOGGAN, LOSING TO NEWARK

Another Weak Team Is Victor Over Regulars Sunday; Score 6 to 4

Hard hitting at opportune times by the Newark Pure Oils put the work to the Coshocton Regulars at Lake Park Sunday afternoon. The score was 6 to 4.

This defeat sent the Regulars slipping down the Eastern Ohio Loop ladder.

The Regulars have won but one game out of the last four league games. Coshocton has been defeated by Mt. Vernon, Columbus and Newark, all lowly teams of the league.

From all appearances now Coshocton has one of the weakest clubs in the league. She will have to hit her stride soon or it will be too late. A shake-up of some kind is badly needed.

The game yesterday started off with a bang. Newark scored a tally in her half and the Regulars came back and went one better.

English led off with a triple to right center. English scored and King was safe at first when Daugherty threw the ball wild over Bope's head after he had fielded the ball. A double play following retired the side.

The Regs came back in their half and scored a pair. Clancy got a double over short, both Schweitzer and English held a caucus over which was to take it and it dropped between them. English had the tip of his fingers on the ball. Daugherty and Bope were easy outs. Greber doubled and Clancy scored. Storch's single scored Greber. Evans fly to center retired the side.

In the fourth Newark tied the count. Dennison singled thru the box. Fuller sacrificed him to second. Clancy allowed DeFrance's long fly to get away from him and Dennison scored. Schweitzer and Morrison were easy outs.

The Pure Oils touched Rea for four hits in the sixth and three runs resulted. Coshocton tied the score in their half of the sixth. A walk by Greber, a triple by Storch, and a single by Evans tied the score.

The Oils wielded the hickory to much advantage in the ninth and two more tallies were made, putting the game on ice. Coshocton was one, two and three in the last chance.

Eddie Witt played a nice fielding game yesterday, handling six chances without an error.

The Newark team played both a good defensive and an offensive game, not a black mark being chalked up against any player.

Harry Storch batted 1,000 yesterday, getting two hits out of two times at the plate. He walked twice.

A fair crowd witnessed the game.

PLAY - BY - PLAY
FIRST INNING

NEWARK: English socked the sphere into right center for a triple. English scored and King was safe at first when Daugherty made a wild throw to first after he had fielded King's grounder. Dennison forced King at third. Daugherty to Evans. Fuller popped into a double play. Bope caught the fly and stepped on first base before Dennison got back to first. One run, one hit and one error.

Coshocton: Clancy doubled to left. Both English and Schweitzer went after the ball. English touched the ball with the tips of his finger but it was a hard chance. Daugherty popped to Fuller. Bope flew to Schweitzer. Greber sent the apple to left for a twin-sacker. Scoring Clancy. Storch singled sharply to left and Greber scored. Evans flew to DeFrance. Two runs, and three hits.

Sport Chatter

All can pity the ball player who has to run bases all day, dance with the chaperones at his wife's party in the evening, and walk the floor with the baby all night.

Another one of those incurable optimists has been discovered, and, strange to say, he is a newspaper reporter. His article reads "When the British polo team practices here in September the Prince of Wales will be in the saddle."

The most popular souvenirs collected at Summer resorts seem to be the towels and writing paper.

YOU KNOW ME, AL

With a Babe in the line up and Miller Huggins, hollering "Man Man" during the closing innings of each game, the Yankee team is beginning to resemble a nursery.

Mamaux has been ascending to high altitudes in recent games, but then that is only natural for a tenor.

You can hardly blame a man who shoots his wife for using his new tennis racket to close the windows during a thunder shower.

Many men follow the horses but few ever catch up with them—judging from the size of their bankroll.

GIRL MAKES ATTEMPT TO SWIM CHANNEL

CALAIS, France, Aug. 11.—Lillian Harrison, 18-year-old Argentine swimmer, left Cape Gris-Nez at 4:30 o'clock today in an effort to swim the English channel. The water was calm and a light breeze was blowin. No woman has ever swam the channel.

Zoar	4	10	286

The Newcomerstown baseball team retained her lead in the Tuscarawas-co league by winning over the Zoar nine on the latter's lot Sunday afternoon. The score was 2 to 1.

A pitchers' battle characterized the contest. Norman hurled for the visitors and Walker tossed for the home club.

Walker whiffed 14 batters and Norman fanned 8. Norman allowed but four hits, while Walker contributed five to the visitors.

Many witnessed the game.

On Saturday in Newcomerstown the Clothes Shoppes of New Phila. won over the former by a score of 4 to 3 in an exciting game.

The score of that game was:

	R	H	E
New Phila.	4	9	3
Newcomerstown	3	7	3

Batteries were: O'Conner and Coneybeer, Sheets and Clark.

The score for yesterday's game was as follows.

Newcomerstown	2	5	0
Zoar	1	4	0

Batteries, Norman and Clark; Walker, pitched.

WAINWRIGHT WINS

Wainwright won over Dover Sunday afternoon by a score of 8 to 0.

H. Hill, pitcher for Wainwright was the star of the game. He fanned 12 men, allowed but two hits and made a home run.

GAME FORFEITED

The game between Midvale and Sugarcreek was forfeited to the former when some of the Sugarcreek players failed to show up for the contest.

NEW PHILA. LOSES

The New Phila. aggregation lost to Stillwater on the latter's diamond Sunday afternoon by a score of 10 to 3. Five two-baggers and three three-base hits featured the game.

Helen Wills Is Preparing to Defend Title

BY HUBERT H. MALKUS

WEST SIDE TENNIS CLUB, Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 11—Weighted with tennis honors at 18, Helen Wills came back today to the stadium at Forest Hills to defend her title of national champion against a field of 59 of the country's best women players.

Her former foes were ready to contest with her, but tennis followers have made her the favorite. Molla B. Mallory, six times champion, Miss Mary K. Browne, of Santa Monica, Calif., the title holder in 1912, 1913 and 1914, and Miss Mayme MacDonald, of New York, were the only ones regarded as having a chance to displace the little Californian, the tenth national champion California has furnished.

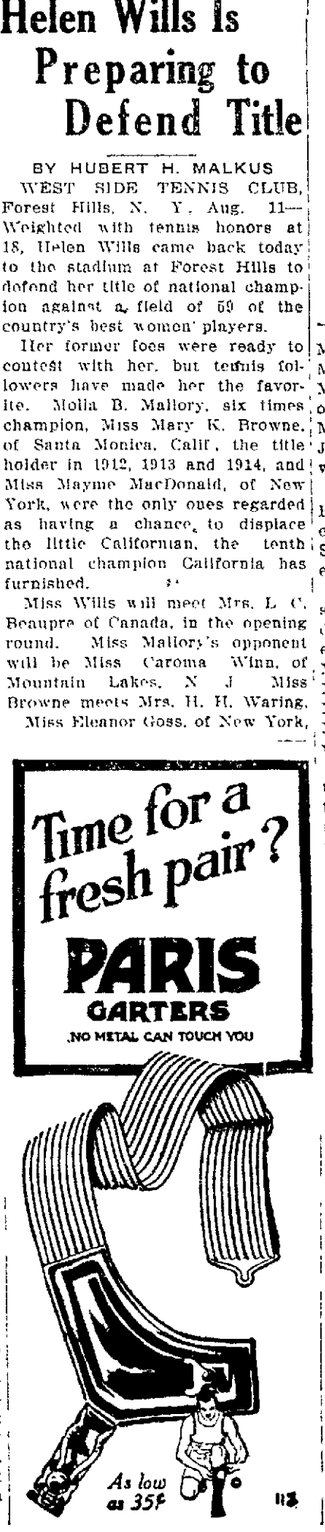

Miss Wills will meet Mrs. L. C. Beaupre of Canada, in the opening round. Miss Mallory's opponent will be Miss Caroma Winn, of Mountain Lakes, N. J. Miss Browne meets Mrs. H. H. Waring. Miss Eleanor Goss, of New York, Miss Leslie Bancroft, of Boston, Miss Edith Sigourney, of Boston, Mrs. Marion Zindersiein Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Martha Bayard, of Short Hills, N. J., are among the other entries which will challenge the leaders.

Miss Wills dedicated the Forest Hills stadium last year with an easy victory over Mrs. Mallory. She was the first champion crowned in that concrete amphitheatre.

Mrs. Mallory and Miss Wills are seeded in opposite halves of the draw. The other six seeded players are Miss Browne, Miss Gross, Mrs. Jessup, Miss MacDonald, Miss Sigourney and Miss Bayard. Miss MacDonald, Miss Browne and Mrs. Jessup are the lower half with Miss Wills.

Miss Browne is furnishing both the mystery and romance of the tournament. The veteran Californian has been holding "secret practice" daily on a secluded court in upper New York City.

Many regard her as the player Miss Wills must defeat. The draw will bring them together in the semi-final round.

Miss Burns Is Favorite Today in Golf Match

ONWENTSIA COUNTRY CLUB, Lake Forest, Ill., Aug. 11—Two champions today struggled over a long route, with the women's western golf title their goal. They were Miss Miriam Burns, of Kansas City, defending champion and Miss Edith Cummings, of Chicago, national champion, playing a 36-hole final for the first time in the title's history.

On the strength of their showing in the semi-final round, Miss Burns was a slight favorite today tho close competition was anticipated, with a faster course and better playing weather than the tourney saw during the damp days of last week.

RENAULT WILL FIGHT MADDEN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, will be put to the acid test in a 15-round bout tonight with Bartley Madden, who has never been knocked off his feet.

Madden's latest feat was staying the limit with Harry Wills. Should Renault succeed where the negro failed, he will challenge the winner of the Firpo-Wills fight.

Renault, formerly Jack Dempsey's sparring partner, has won all of his bouts since he was defeated by the late Billy Miske two years ago. The Canadian's victims since that time number approximately 50.

Renault was the favorite in the betting today, 8 to 5.

Leonard-Moran Fight Tonight

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, fighting his first engagement in 11 months will meet Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, in a 10-round bout at the Olympic arena here tonight.

The fight will be at catch weights.

FORCED TO GIVE UP SWIM OF CHANNEL

LONDON, Aug. 11—Lillian Harrison, champion girl swimmer of Argentine, who began an attempt from Cape Gris-Nez this morning to swim the English channel, suffered a slight injury to her right leg and was forced to give up at 11 o'clock, said a Central News dispatch from Boulogne. She was seven miles from shore when forced to quit. She said she would try again.

Tagging The Bases

The Yankees again were left-handed into second place when Shaute, of the Indians, had them helpless after the first inning, Cleveland winning 7 to 1.

Cobb's base running featured the return of the Tigers to first place, the Detroit manager stealing second once, third twice and home once, his team winning over the Red Sox, 13 to 7.

The Giants suffered their first double defeat of the season when the Reds won both games, 5 to 1 and 4 to 2, reducing their lead to 7½ games.

The Browns went to within four games of first place when they defeated the Athletics, 10 to 8.

Dazzy Vance scored his seventh straight victory and his nineteenth win of the season when he defeated the Cards in the second game 8 to 4, after Brooklyn had won the first in 10 innings, 6 to 5.

The Senators downed the White Sox in a pitching duel, 4 to 2.

GIBBONS IS WILLING TO FIGHT JACK

LONDON, Aug. 11—Tom Gibbons, American light heavyweight who knocked out Jack Bloomfield on Saturday, told International News Service he was willing to fight Jack Dempsey in London.

Sporting circles were greatly surprised over a cablegram from New York saying that Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, had been approached by an English syndicate with an offer for a fight between the champion and Gibbons in London.

"It is the first I heard of it," explained Gibbons, "but I am willing."

Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, said he woul gladly consider such an offer, but Kane does not want a repetition of Shelby.

It was understood here Dempsey, who has been playing in moving pictures in Los Angeles, will shortly go to New York to give earnest consideration of his next bout.

The National Colonial Archives in Seville, Spain, contains original documents relating to the early history of Texas and other Spanish colonies of North America, according to an official report of Frederick C. Chabot, charge d'affaires ad interim, to the Department of State. This provides a fertile field for historical research work.

A new college for women is to be established at Bennington, Vt. In its organization an attempt will be made to economize time and expenses of students. By eliminating long vacations both at Christmas and during the summer the founders hope to help students in three years to meet all the requirements for a regular college degree.

PROPOSED TRANSFER OF TERRITORY
To the qualified electors of Walhonding Special School District in New Castle Township, Coshocton County, Ohio.
The following RESOLUTION was passed by the County Board of Education, of Coshocton County, Ohio, at a regular meeting held July 30, 1924.
WHEREAS, W. L. Wright, being the owner and resident on a certain tract of land containing twenty acres, more or less, and situated in, and being a part of Walhonding Special School District, in New Castle Township, Coshocton County, Ohio, has asked the said County Board of Education, by petition, to transfer for school purposes, that part of said Walhonding Special School District, as described herein, and owned by said W. L. Wright, at this date, (July 30, 1924) to the Nellie Village School District, in Jefferson Township, Coshocton County Ohio. Therefore, be it Resolved by the County Board of Education, of Coshocton County, Ohio, now in regular session, on this the 30 day of July, 1924, that said petition be granted and said tract of land be transferred as requested by said W. L. Wright, said transfer to become effective on and after the filing of a Map of said territory with the County Auditor, and the publication of this notice in accordance with Section 4692 Ohio Laws.
H. B. PIGMAN, Clerk.
County Board of Education.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The stock market had a number of conflicting factors to contend with in early trading today. The passing of dividends on two important Standard Oil stocks, together with reports of further declines in crude oil prices, emphasized the fact that the petroleum industry has not yet reached plain sailing; while the favorable report of forward orders by the steel corporations, the extremely optimistic outlook reported for the great middle western sections of the country and the brisk advance of Sterling to $4.56⅝ and fo francs to 5.70½, indicated another measure of progress in the economic adjustment of the continents.
High priced railroad shares and steel stocks featured the market on the constructive side in this period. Coppers and equipments gave another exhibition of strength. Only the oil stocks were conspicuously weak with losses extending from a fraction to 2¾ points, the latter sustained by Atlantic Refining Company.

The Radio Comeback

HOW are your aerials, and your cat-whiskers and your binding posts? What! You don't mean to say you had forgotten all about radio! Well, you are in the same boat with most of us. After the big wave of wireless telephony, enthusiasm died down a great deal.

But don't you believe the calamity howlers who say that that is the end of the radio fad. Not a bit of it. They said the same thing about Alexander Graham Bell a generation ago, when he was toying with the telephone. In his later years Dr. Bell wouldn't have a phone in his house, he said it was a nuisance, and so, it must be confessed, it is.

But it also is one of modern life's indispensables. So will radio be. The engineers of wireless haven't been idle this summer. They knew that most of us soon would get tired of radio. Now the entire process is being intensively studied, and one of these days radio truly will be the servant, instead of the mere entertainer of man, just as the telephone became.

Meanwhile, it's the concert and the crop report and the bedtime story most of us will want. Wait till the long winter evenings. Then the electrical genius of the household will be dragging his set out once more, and we'll take turns again with the receivers to our ears.

The Pittsburgh Plan

"I have given the subject of taxation careful study for a number of years. I have been in a position to observe the operation of the so-called Pittsburgh plan in actual practice and am convinced that it is one of great merit and is proving beneficial in its effects upon the community as a whole . . . . we believe it to be the most progressive system of taxation in any city in the United States."

The above is taken from a recent statement by Thomas C. McMahon, chief tax assessor of Pittsburgh. His enthusiasm over that city's tax scheme seems, indeed, to be justified by the results of the plan. Directly traceable to its tax method, as Mr. McMahon says, is the city's building boom and incresae in home owners—proportionately much greater than be shown by any other large city in the country.

Simply, the plan has been gradually to shift taxes from builders and personal property to the naked value of land. The shifting process has been going on for about ten years and will reach its culmination in 1925. At that time, one-third of the city's revenue will come from a tax levied on the value of buildings and two-thirds from a tax levied on land value. It is possible that after the program has been completed next year, further cuts will be made in the tax on buildings and the tax on land value, or economic rent, made proportionately higher as new tax laws are enacted.

The results which have followed this taxing method might have been expected and accurately predicted by anyone who has acquainted himself with the situation. A heavy tax on the value of land makes it expensive to hold lots out of use. The speculator finds he must either build on his site or sell it. He cannot afford to hold it idle. Thus, the prospective home builder finds plenty of available lots. Also, he finds the city is encouraging him by placing an unusually low tax on buildings and no tax at all on personal property. The result will inevitably be more building and more home owners.

But, this is not all. A mighty stimulus is given to industry by doing away with the personal property tax. A factory or a store in Pittsburgh can increase its stock or its machines by a million dollars and, so long as it does not increase its ground space or the value of its buildings, it will not have to pay a penny in additional taxes to the city.

Always, a tax on land values relieves the home owner, encourages the builder, facilitates and stimulates production. The burden rests on the land owner, particularly on the owner of valuable land. The man who operates a store in the down-town district may own the site of his store or he may not. He pays a tax. The reasons why he should pay a tax to the city are numberous. The city has paved the street in front of his store. The city has given him police protection and fire protection. Greatest of all, he is enjoying a peculiar advantage from his fellows—the advantage of a down-town location. For this advantage and the others the city asks him to pay. Morally, he should be and, under normal conditions, he would be willing to pay.

But, assuming that the man who operates the store does not own the site, by what moral right does the land owner collect rent from him? The land owner did not pave the street. He did not cause the town to grow. He is not responsible for good business at the down-town location. Is it any wonder that the [illegible] despairs and complains when after paying an enormous rent he must "dig" again for taxes?

And observe the [illegible] in which most of our cities collect their revenues. Like a beggar, the city says "how much are you worth—how much can you afford to pay me?" Then, like [illegible] "pay or be dispossessed."

Pittsburgh is awakening to the realization that the correct method [illegible] We quote again from Mr. McMahon: "The tax [illegible] in Pittsburgh is being gradually shifted to [illegible] which represent the [illegible] of labor, to the land, the value of which is created by the community and belongs to the community." In other words, in Pittsburgh the city is saying to the citizen, "how much do you owe me—what privileges are you enjoying from me?"

Here is justice. The result is simply a more prosperous city and happier citizens. The worker, the merchant, and the industrialist are all relieved of part of the combined burden of rent and taxes. Then, from whence comes the city's revenue? Quite obviously, it is coming in larger and larger amounts from that enormous sum which has hitherto been going into private pockets as ground rent. It is coming from the unearned incomes.

And does this taking of ground rent by the city affect me, the renter? It does not. Economists everywhere now recognize that a land value tax cannot be shifted. If the city levies a two dollar tax on the lot for which a man pays his landlord ten dollars, the landlord cannot increase the rent to twelve. If he tries to thus increase the rent, the tenant can find plenty of vacant lots, the owners of which are only too anxious to rent, since the advent of the extra expense of the two dollar tax.

This principle of the collection of ground rent by the state is not new and did not originate in Pittsburgh. It was recognized by the ancient Greeks, by the French physiocrats and was given its strongest enunciation nearly fifty years ago by Henry George, America's greatest economic philosopher. We are seeing what is happening in one city which has accepted a modified form of the principle. When the principle in full is accepted in state and federal as well as municipal taxation we will have come to the end of our industrial and economic troubles.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Prominent Democrats from the south are reporting to political headquarters here that Senator LaFollette and his progressive ticket will get a far larger vote in the "solid south" than heretofore has been expected. The vote is not expected to be large enough to upset any Democratic calculations as to the outcome in the southern states, but it will be indicative of a feeling within the "heart" of the Democratic party which may require considerable attention some time in the near future.

There is no particular sympathy in the south for the LaFollette idea as a whole, so the voters for him will be 90 percent of the protest variety, the protest in this case being against the treatment some of the southern states received at the hands of the New York convention.

The resentment which evidenced itself at Madison Square Garden in the Georgia delegation for instance, has spread to that state and it is there that LaFollette may get his biggest southern vote. Texas is another state which felt it was unfairly treated in the Garden and the stories told by the delegates upon their return home have had an effect upon the voters.

The New York galleries and many of the northern delegates laughed and booed and hissed and shouted when the band played "Marching Thru Georgia" during one of the anti-Ku Klux Klan demonstrations in the convention hall but that one instance aroused an anger and left a hurt which will be felt for years in that particular portion of the south.

In other parts of the south it felt that the New York convention classed all of the southern states as dominated by the Knights of the Hooded Order. It has pointed out that some of these states stood as solidly as New York itself in favor of the minority platform report which would have denounced the Klan by name. It is argued that Indiana stood as strongly in defense of the Klan as half of the states from the other side of the Mason Dixon line.

Some southern delegates who have visited New York since the convention have expressed the opinion that the Klan fight in Madison Square Garden was [illegible] anxious to see President Coolidge re-elected. They say that if the Klan is regarded as [illegible] political issue within the Democratic party, it must be regarded as much the same [illegible] the Republican organization. Yet the forces opposed to the Klan in this country were si[illegible]lent at Cleveland when the Republicans sidestepped the issue, whereas in Madison Square Garden they caused a miniature civil war.

The Klan issue came up in the resolutions committee which was drafting the platform of the Republicans at Cleveland but at the suggestion of some of the committee members from states where the Klan has been particularly aggressive, such as Indiana, the doctrine of political and religious liberty was written into the platform with the fewest possible words.

There is increasing evidence, however, that so far as the Republicans are concerned they are none too desirous at this time that the Klan be made an issue in the coming election and will not taunt the Democrats for their strife and pain with the question. This is due to the fact that since the convention the Ku Kluxers have been exceedingly busy in the Republican primaries, altho way from Maine to Kansas and beyond, and have claimed to have nominated most of the men they were backing.

Some anti-Kluxers claim several states to see what the party seemed to do and hear from the candidates on the question.

Be that as it may, the Klan appears to be by way of becoming a "plague on both the old political houses and with Ku Kluxers voting for Senator LaFollette in the solid south, despite his letter denouncing the Klan. It is likely that further developments will ensue on this question.

The office boy was tilted back in his chair, with his legs on the table, deep in a paper backed novel, when a visitor walked into the office.

"Is the manager in?" asked the visitor.

The boy barely glanced up from his reading, and did not answer.

The visitor repeated the question in a louder tone.

Reluctantly withdrawing his attention from his book the office boy looked the questioner over scornfully.

"Aincha got eyes?" he demanded. "Do I look as if the boss was in?"

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11. — The march of climbing salaries for motion picture stars has been halted.

Hollywood film producers have banded together in an effort to end the paying of princely fortunes to actors.

The first step in the fight against high salaries was made when the producers agreed not to raise any actor's pay during the next three months.

According to the producers, this movement will permanently retard the increase in players' salaries, for at the end of the three-months period the Summer rush will be over, and production will be at a low level. Players then, it was pointed out, will be glad to accept parts at their established salaries, as there will be plenty of artists on the waiting lists.

The trend of stars to appear in support is shown in a new picture just released here. Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle are the leads. Then there is Kathlyn Williams, Lou Tellegen and Henry B. Walthall, all stars themselves.

Inflated salaries for stars are at an end, the producers insist.

Within the last year, it is declared, great strides have been made in cutting expenditures in the picture world. False values, the producers assert, have become known and eliminated to a large extent. The result is borne out in many current productions, which show stars of years' standing appearing as supporting characters.

The actors do not appear to be much alarmed over the fight of the producers. They point out that costs of the actor are mounting each year. Publicity, gifts, clothes, automobiles, homes and entertainment which must be maintained by the film actors, they assert, in order to achieve success and keep it cost more now than ever before.

"The movies need brains, not beauty."

A motion picture director — Irving Cummings — is the Hollywood person brave enough to make this statement.

At the same time Cummings comes out flat - footed against beauty contests as a means of discovering talent for the screen.

Says Cummings:

"Beauty contests are growing more popular every year in this country, and a test, a small part, or a contract in moviedom is offered usually as a lure to contestants.

"Eventually the winners fo these contests find their way into the motion picture studios — and are seldom heard from again. Many of the winners find their way to Hollywood only to be brought to the realization that the stories they have read about how hard it is to break into the movies are true. They find it is a long walk between studios and a long wait between jobs. Evidently there isn't so much room for beauty in the movies.

"Amatuer theatricals, which is the other and far more sensible way to break into the movies or to the stage, are not as popular as beauty contests. It requires harder work and the use of brains. But when one is beautiful, of what use are brains, they probably reason. Those coming to Hollywood with experience in amateur theatricals are fewer than those winning beauty contests, but their success is greater.

"It is not necessarily the fact that the experience derived from amateur theatricals has anything to do with later success in motion pictures, other than that those engaging in amateur theatricals show a liking for the stage and screen, and a desire to work to attain success. The winners of the beauty contests, depending only upon their beauty, thereby showing how little brains they have, fall by the wayside and are picked up eventually by the Travelers' Aid Society to be returned to their homes.

"Personality is the one big factor in the success of motion picture stars. One does not have to be beautiful, but one must have personality, and personality is a reflection of the brains and the mind in the face. If there are no brains it is only natural that there can be no personality or expression."

In these modern days, when picture pageants of the times of long ago are proving so popular, directors are finding it difficult to select locations, which must be entirely devoid of sky-scrapers, telegraph wires, chimneys, bungalows and radio outfits.

Camouflage is an art which is being employed by many directors to overcome difficulties in this respect.

Old barns become Moorish castles, modern jails are quickly transformed into ancient dungeons, and the bungalow court is made into a herdsman's hut thru the work of the camouflage artist.

HONOLULU, Aug. 11 — The twang of ukulele and guitar strings will synchronize with the twang of rifle bullets this Summer in the National Guard rifle contests at Camp Perry, Ohio. The thirteen men who are to compose the team of the Hawaii National Guard have just been announced by Colonel P. M. Smoot, Adjutant-General of the Territory. The team is predominantly Hawaiian, and all but three of its members are skilled musicians. Colonel Smoot is insisting that musical instruments as well as rifles, shall be taken on the trip, so that the team may make music wherever it goes. This is the first time since 1915 that Hawaii has sent a team to the National Guard matches.

Hawaiian-born Japanese boys are not in the least worried over the clause of the new exclusion law which prevents Japanese picture brides from coming to this Territory, as was possible under the now famous "genttlemen's agreement." In fact, the local boys have frowned for years on the coming of these maids from Cherry Blossom Land. They prefer the home-grown girl, who has a tendency toward American customs, including bobbed hair, and not the demure maid from Japan who clatters about on wooden sandals. Japanese parents, under the old custom of the country, have much to say in the picking of their daughters-in-law, and much of the picking was done from the home country. Now the local boys will be assured of American-born and American-schooled wives, even tho the old folk may insist upon doing the picking.

The Pan-Pacific Union has announced that Castle Home, one of the largest residences in Honolulu, has been turned over to the organization for the establishment of a Pan Pacific university. This building, which has not been occupied for some months, was previously used as a home for orphan children, but was abandoned for this purpose when it was found that other charitable organizations in the city could more practically take care of these inmates.

Apparently the young lady in the "Honolulu Tomboy" song, popular on the mainland a few years ago, wasnt' the only person who could "live on fish and poi" in these fair islands. Statistics just received from Hilo, where the 102nd annual convention of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association came to a close recently, show that there was considerable eating as well as other business in progress.

During the nine days of the convention five tons of poi, nineteen bullocks, twenty-nine pigs, 155 chickens, fifteen bags of potatoes and 1,000 pounds of aku, a favorite fish among Hawaiians, were consumed.

Delegates were served three meals daily, and poi was on the table at each meal, this accounting for the large consumption of that article.

Crime decreases in Hawaii bootleggers flee, and violators of the narcotic act are being caught in large numbers in the net of the law, the annual report of William L. Rosa, clerk of the Federal Court shows.

Crime decreases in Hawaii, booting June 30 numbered 466, against 643 for the preceding twelve months. Violators of the prohibition law were 151, as compared to 419.

Figures on the activities of the narcotic squad are deceptive, according to officials. Arrests in 1923 and 1924 were 272, contrasted to 189 for the period before. This does not mean an increase in the use of narcotics, it is pointed out, but rather an increased efficiency on the part of Federal narcotic officers.

William T. Carden United States Attorney, obtained 420 convictions during the fiscal year, with nine acquittals and with 25 cases still pending.

My bus wasn't doing as well as it should; the works weren't choosing right, under the hood; mechanics would tinker around it and curse, they made the air pinker and made the car worse. Grown tired of the acres of grief and expense, I write to the members in language intense. 'There is no devising," I said, in my note, "a worse advertising, for you, than my boat." "An expert we're sending," they wired me that day, 'you'll soon find him mending your sumptuous dray." He came with his spanner, his crowbar and drill, his Chesterfield manner, and oodles of skill. And when he finished, in three hours or two the knock was diminished, the pistons ran true. And here in my dwelling, and all through the grad, my neighbors I'm telling of the service I had. 'My grief was titanic," I often have said; "they sent a mechanic, nor charged me a red." No ad can rank higher in value, I ween than praise from a buyer of service he he's seen.
